

Air Pollution Update

Sarah Sharp, City Councillor for Chichester South, supported by other Green Party Campaigners targeted drivers at Chichester station, the railway barriers at Whyke and Southbourne and outside schools to encourage people to turn off their engines in June 2017. The Anti-Idling Campaign was a first for Chichester and involved handing out leaflets about Clean Air. Most drivers readily complied and took on board the simple message that air quality can be improved by cutting engines while waiting.
